Abstract: The vocational education and training (VET) has not been in much demand on the Romanian market, as higher education became more accessible for the urban youth, while for the rural one, the possibility of migration for employment abroad with the immediate advantages connected to it, outweighed the advantages of learning new skills by entering a form of VET-related education. Finding qualified human resources in Romania is still a hard thing to do, as the educational system isn't yet concentrated on the practice. The Romanian Industry felt these changes and started to fight back, and the Chamber of Commerce saw an opportunity to have a beneficial influence in supporting the process that will have as a result a major change in the educational system.
